Presenting a new tableware collection from Royal Porcelain

The concept for this collection derives from the beauty of the silk fabric that has a remarkable texture appearance. The weaving texture of silk that gives the feeling of soft and tenderness is shown here as a relief on 'Silk Collection'

The shape itself is a cross between Western and Asian influence suitable for all your dining occasion.

From now on your delightful dining experience will be 'Smooth and Vibrant as Silk'

Royal Porcelain's products are made to stringent quality and safety standards suitable for the consumers and free of any environmental concerns.

The company received approval from the United States Foods and Drugs Administration <US FDA> in meeting with its rigid international standards and safety systems related particularly to lead and cadmium release.
